DANIEL CENTURIAO

Penn State Univeristy — Northeast Regional Center for Rural Development
University Park, PA 16802 — Phone: (681) 285-8860
Email: dfc5823@psu.edu — Website: https://danielcenturiao.com

EDUCATION

Postdoctoral Scholar	Penn State Univeristy, May 2026 - Present
Ph.D.	Economics, West Virginia University, 2026
Certificate	University Teaching, West Virginia University, 2025
M.A.	Economics, West Virginia University, 2023
B.S.	Economics, Federal University of Mato Grosso do Sul - Brazil, 2016
Clifton Strengths:	Connectedness, Intellection, Input, Strategic, Belief

FIELDS OF SPECIALIZATION

Primary: Regional and Urban Economics, Public Economics and Macroeconomics.
Areas of Interest: Urban/Regional Growth and Development, Transportation, Policy Evaluation

SELECTED TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Instructor, Regional Economics (masters), West Virginia University, Summer 2026.
Instructor, Elementary Bus. & Econ. Statistics (undergrad), West Virginia University, Fall 2025.
Instructor, Urban Economics (undergrad), West Virginia University, Summer 2025.
Instructor, Principles of Macroeconomics (undergrad), West Virginia University, Summer 2024.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS AND R&Rs

1. The external cost of city development dynamics, with Brad Humphreys and Heather Stephens. (R&R, Journal of Regional Science).

2. Federal research grants and regional economic impact: Evidence from West Virginia University, with Heather Stephens. (Forthcoming, Journal of Regional Analysis and Policy)

3. Regional economic impacts of COVID-19 lockdowns and mitigation effects of stimulus checks and unemployment insurance. Economic Analysis and Policy, 2025, with Amir Neto, Caroline Welter, and Fernando Perobelli.

4. Assessing the cost of urban climate resilience: An analysis of the NYC Financial District and Seaport Climate Resilience (FiDi) Master Plan implementation. Papers in Regional Science, 2025, with Caroline Welter.

5. Land use and regulating ecosystem services scenarios for the Brazilian Pantanal and its surroundings under different storylines of future regional development, Conservation Science and Practice, 2025, with coauthors.

6. Impacts of road transport infrastructure investments on Latin American Integration Route, Regional Science Policy and Practice, 2024, with coauthors.

7. Dynamics of local productive arrangements in the municipalities of Mato Grosso do Sul considering the transformations of the Bioceanic Corridor, Plos One, 2023, with coauthors.

WORKING PAPERS

1. When is a commute "Reverse"? Network centrality and the geography of urban labor markets, with Eli Kochersperger. (Under Review).

2. Re-examining the framework for macro modeling of monetary policy and regional housing, with Scott Schuh and Michael Duncan. (Under Review).

3. Can off-farm work keep farms alive? Evidence from U.S. counties, with Stephan Goetz and Zheng Tian. (Submitted).

4. The effectiveness of speed enforcement policies in congested cities, with Palak Suri. (Selected for the Urban Economic Association Conference)

5. Measuring the Outdoor Recreation economy at the sub-state level, with Heather Stephens, Caroline Welter and Matthew Fredriksson. (Selected for the AEA-ASSA 2027).

WORK IN PROGRESS

1. Closing the digital divide: Measuring the gap on U.S. broadband availability, with Heather Stephens.
2. On the government growth: a partial equilibrium macroeconomic growth model to explain cross-country government expenditure trends, with Vinicius Cicero.
3. The effects of connectivity constraints on the measurement of tourism visitation using mobile device location data, with Matthew Fredriksson, Heather Stephens and Doug Arbogast
4. Social Capital and Local Economic Recovery: Evidence from the COVID-19 Shock, with Stephan Goetz and Timothy Zuahng.

RELEVANT RESEARCH AND WORK EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant, Heather Stephens and Randall Jackson, Regional Research Institute at West Virginia University, Summer 2022–Present. Tasks included grant and proposal writing; preparation of brief reports; mentoring junior grad and undergraduate students; and data manipulation, organization, and automation.

Report: The Impact of West Virginia University Federal Research Grant Funding on the State's Economy, Regional Research Institute, 2025. Extension Product: Rural Tourism Reports.

Research Assistant, John Deskins, Bureau of Business and Economic Research at West Virginia University, Fall 2021 and Spring 2022. Tasks included data organization and assistance with preparing data visualizations for presentations and reports.

GRANTS AND AWARDS

Recipient, Cliff Hawley Economics Award for academic excellence $ 2000.00, 2025.
Speaker, Digital Access Research Forum, Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, 2025.
Participant, Urban Economics Association Summer School, 2025.
Finalist, Benjamin H. Stevens Graduate Fellowship in Regional Science, 2025.
Recipient, Public Choice Society (PCS) Fellowship, 2025.
Recipient, Best Graduate Student Paper Award, Mid-Continent Regional Science Association, 2024.
Participant, NERSA/NARSC Summer School, Cornell Tech NYC, 2022.

SELECTED CONFERENCE AND SEMINAR PRESENTATIONS

2026/2027: Allied Social Science Associations (AEA/ASSA-2027), Urban Economics Association Conference, North American Regional Science Council, Southern Economic Association Conference, Mid-Continent Regional Science Association, Southern Regional Science Association.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Referee for International Gambling Studies, Journal of Regional Science, The Review of Regional Studies (2), Journal of Financial Economic Policy (2), Journal of Regional Analysis and Policy (3), Regional Science Policy & Practice (3), Pennsylvania Economic Review, Cogent Economics & Finance.

Board Member of Mid-continent Regional Science Association, term 2026-2028. Contribute to administrative decision-making, strategic planning, and the organization of the association's annual conference.

Production Editor, Journal of Regional Analysis and Policy. Support authors through the production of final publishable manuscripts, manage the journal's production workflow, and oversee the final publication process on the journal website.

Member, Graduate Student Paper Competition Committee, North American Regional Science Council. Assist in managing the submission and evaluation process for papers entered in the competition.

COMPUTATIONAL SKILLS

R, Stata, Eviews, Python, Markdown, LaTeX, QGIS, ArcGIS.

REFERENCES

Brad Humphreys	West Virginia University	brad.humphreys@mail.wvu.edu	(304) 293-7871
Heather Stephens	West Virginia University	heather.stephens@mail.wvu.edu	(605) 488-0099
Palak Suri	West Virginia University	palak.suri@mail.wvu.edu	(304) 293-7831
Stephan Goetz	Penn State University	sjg16@psu.edu	(814) 441-1103